

ENOS

European Network
of Outdoor Sports

Your Voice in Europe's Outdoor Future

Membership to European Network of Outdoor Sport

Join for the network, stay for the benefits

Member benefits start with the network and are supported with access to insights, partners to create impact and collaboration for influence

Connect

Build Your European Network

- Members-only LinkedIn community
- Networking meet-ups throughout the year
- Project Partner matching assistance
- ENOS podcast to highlight members and their work.

Insight

Learn, Share and Grow through exclusive access to the ENOS insight hub

- Priority access to the ENOS Insight Hub of member knowledge and resources
- Contribute to and learn from expert groups on trails, youth, sustainability, technology and more
- Member-priority access to a high-value webinar program
- Good practices and toolkits from European projects

Impact

Develop and Deliver European Projects that shape the future of outdoor sport

- Funding Radar tracking European deadlines and opportunities
- Two free 60-minute consultations to strengthen your funding applications
- Access to a growing legacy library of project tools and resources
- Co-development of new European projects with fellow members

Influence

Strengthen the voice of outdoor sports and recreation

- Shape ENOS's annual advocacy priorities through our survey
- A seat at the table in expert groups feeding European policy positions
- Quarterly updates on advocacy developments and their impact on your work
- Position and policy papers published on your behalf

Our Mission

Taking action together for the sustainable and responsible development of outdoor sports across Europe

A network earns its relevance through what it enables people to understand and do together."

Benjamin Billet — Enos Chair

Hear it from our members

ENOS is powered by the people and organisations who use it every day
— comparing practice, shaping policy and building projects that reach across Europe.

It has been motivating to be able to co-shape the European Trails Policy Paper and be a part of the future of shaping European policy. We are stronger together.”

Dr. Mischa Crumbach
European Trails

The networking is the most important part of ENOS. It helps us broaden our ideas and our perspectives.”

Steen Kobberø-Hansen
European Hiking Federation

ENOS provides a lot of inspiration for us. We are learning best practices from across Europe that we can bring to our municipality.”

Nuno Benedito
Municipal de Mafra, Portugal

ENOS represents the whole ecosystem of outdoor sports in Europe

-  Federations
-  Municipalities
-  Universities
-  Clubs
-  Tourism businesses

-  Tourism boards
-  Outdoor sport providers
-  NGOs
-  Research institutes
-  Outdoor sport services and products

View our members

Membership fees

One annual fee, three simple tiers

Tier	Annual Fee
Small	€250
Medium	€600
Large	€1,200

Every membership fee is unrestricted income that directly funds governance, member services, advocacy and the future development of the network — independent of project funding cycles.

Discover more

Ready to join the network?

Sign up now

Credit: Kopie von Silkeborg

Case Study

From STANDOUT to the European Outdoor Cities Network

When ENOS brings the right people and organisations together, a project becomes something much bigger.

ENOS created STANDOUT, bringing nine member organisations together through an Erasmus+ partnership, to explore how cities can make outdoor sport more accessible, inclusive and sustainable.

ENOS has carried the work forward through the European Outdoor Cities Network — a long-term, ENOS-hosted initiative that gives cities practical tools, shared European standards, a public Quick Check, examples of Good Practice and opportunities to learn directly from one another.

By connecting expertise across its membership and giving successful projects a permanent home, ENOS turns collaboration into lasting capacity. This is ENOS membership in action: members pooling knowledge, building new partnerships and creating practical change that lasts well beyond a single project.

STANDOUT partners:

ENOS, Mountainbike Forum Germany, Outdooractive, Technical University of Munich, Charles University, County Administrative Board of Västernorrland, Silkeborg Municipality, Trekkify, Mountaineering Association Tara and Viana do Castelo Municipality.

Find out more:

standout.outdoor-sports-network.eu

Case Study

The Trails Expert Group: a shared voice for trail access

The Trails Expert group is one of the many Expert Groups that ENOS members can join.

It was founded to secure a shared voice and collaboration across different stakeholders whose activities in nature depend on trail access.

The Expert Group includes ENOS members such as, IMBA Europe, European Trails, EUROPARC Federation, the European Ramblers' Association (ERA), as well as ENOS and other partners. Together, they are developing a shared vision for the future of Europe's trail networks.

The major output of the group has been the Trails Policy Paper, a shared vision for the future of trails in Europe. The policy paper highlights the vital role trails play in connecting people with nature, supporting sustainable tourism and active mobility, improving public health, strengthening rural communities and protecting biodiversity. It calls on European and national policymakers to recognize, support and invest in sustainable trail development and management.

The publication of the paper marks an important step towards ensuring Europe's trails receive the strategic recognition and long-term investment they deserve.

ENOS is proud to support the launch of the European Trails Policy Paper – Trails as Strategic European Infrastructure, a landmark document calling for greater recognition of trails as essential infrastructure that delivers environmental, social and economic benefits across Europe.

Find out more:

<https://europeantrails.org/european-trails-policy-paper/>

Credit: Thomas Larsen Schmidt

Case Study

From FIAS UK to a European strategy for gender-inclusive outdoor sport

What began as a UK project tackling gender inequality in mountain biking is now a practical European resource for any outdoor sport.

Fostering Inclusive Action Sports (FIAS) is an evidence-based programme that helps organisations understand and change the conditions shaping women's participation in outdoor sport. It looks beyond individual participation to the wider sport environment — including inclusion and belonging, leadership and decision making, organisational culture, communications, events and representation.

FIAS began in the UK with mountain biking as its initial focus. Through ENOS, the programme has been elevated, adapted and disseminated across Europe. By drawing on the reach, knowledge and influence of the ENOS network, the FIAS Strategy Development Guide for Europe is now available for outdoor sports organisations that want to develop a stronger and more gender-inclusive future for outdoor sport.

This is ENOS in action: using the strength of the network to elevate proven ideas, connect expertise across countries and turn local innovation into shared European progress.

Find out more:

Instagram @project.fias

LinkedIn /project-fias

FOSTERING INCLUSIVE
ACTION
SPORTS

Credit: Charlie Low